

Profit and the Environment Building a Society of Hope

Athens Money Show

*Athens Hilton, Terpsichore Hall C
Saturday, 3 December 2005, 13:00 to 15:00*

Programme

Chair

Dr. Agni Vlavianos-Arvanitis, President and Founder
Biopolitics International Organisation (B.I.O.)

Roundtable A

Profit and the realisation of the United Nations Millennium Goals

Discussion will focus on international cooperation for the eradication of poverty.
The protection and sharing of water resources as a pathway for the Middle East peace process.
Global climate change and proposed action.

Professor Christos Zerefos, President, National Observatory of Athens

Ram Aviram, Ambassador of Israel

Lourdes Morales, Ambassador of the Philippines

Roundtable B

European policy and social responsibility

Management strategies for environmental protection.
Accessibility. Participation of every citizen.

Alexey Rogaley, Minister-Counsellor of the Embassy of the Russian Federation in Greece

Rodi Kratsa-Tsagaropoulou, Member of European Parliament

Yannis Methodios, Vice President, KEMEL, Center of Volunteer Managers of Greece

Evangelia Tsambazi, Member of European Parliament

The bio-environment is being destroyed at a very rapid pace and the very continuity of life on our planet is at risk. The purpose of this meeting is to mobilise new strategies on the protection of the environment and the improvement of the quality of life as the real profit for our society. Leaders from government, business and universities are asked to inspire and mobilise the participation of every citizen in the building of a new society of hope.

Hellenic AID
YDAS

Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Kitty P. Kyriacopoulos, Ministry of Culture, Alpha Bank, OTE, OTEnet, Aspis International MFMC, DHL International, Hotel Herodion, Irene Vassilopoulou,
A.G. Leventis Foundation, Hellas-on-Line, Xerox Hellas S.A., Hewlett-Packard Hellas

Leonardo
da Vinci

